AN ADVERTISING SERMON
 TALK about the value of advertising. Where would Coca Cola be but for the advertising its clever proprietors conducted? The statement of the company dealing in this commodity shows that the capital was $10,000 and has been maintained at that figure and that with such a capital the surplus and profit and loss balance together are $8,000,000. The stock has a book value of over $17,000 a share. Try it—we mean the advertising.

DR. HAYNES SHIPS STOCK SALT BY PARCEL POST

Thirty or more sacks of salt contained in parcel post, went out with the rest of the mail on train No. 19 this morning. It was just plain salt—the coarse grade of the sort used on the range for salt licks.
 The shipment was sent by Dr. John Roger Haynes, of Park View, Rio Arriba county, to Haynes, N. M. Park View is twelve miles off the railroad. The sacks ranged in weight from 19 to 25 pounds. They carried postage ranging from 24 cents to 54 cents. The shipment attracted a good deal of attention from railroad men and passengers who noticed it on a truck on its way to the baggage car. All sorts of things have been going through by parcel post, but it was the first time a shipment of salt in sacks was noted.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK SEEMS GOOD TO WEINMAN

Owner of Big Golden Rule Store Back from Month in New York Says Confidence is Returning.

J. A. Weinman, owner of the Golden Rule Dry Goods store, returned last night from a month in New York City where he has been engaged chiefly in buying goods for his big Albuquerque store. Mr. Weinman said this morning that he was unusually glad to get back to Albuquerque and the sunshine. He was caught in the great blizzard which paralyzed New York last week.
 "I am always glad to get back home," said Mr. Weinman, "but I am more than usually glad to see the sunshine. I was in New York during the whole of the big blizzard and have never seen anything quite so complete as the paralysis of that great city. Snow simply blocked traffic and almost entirely stopped business. It was an experience I would not have missed, but one I would not care to repeat and that was not pleasant."
 "Concerning the business outlook, I should say that it is distinctly good. New York, as every one knows, has had a period of depression, and uncertainty has been largely responsible for it. First the business interests were fearful of the effect upon the country of the tariff, then the currency law, and last the president's trust legislation program. They have gotten all over their fright about the tariff, are more than pleased to have the currency question settled, and I do not think much fear remains concerning any possible untoward effect from the trust measures.
 "The result is a return of confidence and an opening of vaults which will mean a period of development all over the country. To me, and from all I could learn from prominent business men, the outlook is considered very satisfactory."
 "The best indication of my own view of the business outlook, lies in the fact that I bought the largest stock of goods I have ever done; I have backed my optimistic view of the situation."

PROPOSED COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL ASSURED

Plenty of Signers to Petitions in Practically Every Precinct in the County.

UNIVERSITY WINS DEBATING CONTEST

Report for First Week Shows That Saving Bank System is Success in the Grade Schools.

Circulation of petitions calling for a special election on the county high school question was started in the Old Albuquerque district today. Men hired by the directors are taking the papers from house to house. Inasmuch as the district sends more pupils to the city high school than any other the signing of the petitions is expected to be general.
 The reception accorded the petitions that have been turned in so far indicates that the commissioner will undoubtedly be required to call an election on the school question in Alameda, Las Padillas and District No. 26, from which returns have been received, many more than the necessary 20 per cent of the voters readily signed. The indication that the county is desirous of voting on the high school question is strengthened by the fact that the three districts are at the county limits, and send only one pay pupil to the city high school. Districts that send pupils to the high school in numbers are expected to be even more interested in putting the question to a vote.
 In view of the fact that signatures in favor of the election are obtained so readily, it is felt that in the event of a vote the proposition will certainly carry, inasmuch as a bare majority of the vote cast is all that is required.
 County Superintendent Montoya hopes to have petitions signed by the necessary 20 per cent of the county voters in time to lay them before the county commissioners at the April meeting. It is thought the election would be held in May.
Savings Bank Scheme Succeeds.
 Success of the savings bank system in the public schools was indicated by the first week. One hundred and twenty-five pupils were depositors by the end of last week, and Superintendent John Milne expects the number almost to double during the present school week.
 Last week's deposits ranged from 5 cents to $3. Thirty cents was the average. The money goes into the vaults of the American Trust and Savings bank.

UNIVERSITY WINS IN DEBATING CONTEST

The University of New Mexico won the debate with the A. & M. College. The three judges were unanimous in the opinion that the "Varsity" debaters had presented the negative side of the question regarding the desirability of minimum wage legislation for women more convincingly than the visitors argued for the affirmative. The debate was held in the Presbyterian church Saturday night, and a large audience, composed mainly of adherents of the teams, enjoyed it.
 The debate was spirited, and punctuated by frequent applause. The A. & M. team acquitted itself with credit, losing the battle by only a shade. The State College team was made up of Miss Ruth Day, Richard Stevens and Edward Wharton. The victorious "Varsity" debaters were Leslie Harkness, Fred Calkins and William J. Higgins.
 While the judges were deliberating, the University glee clubs, under the direction of Miss McPhee, presented a delightful musical program. The judges were Hon. George S. Klock, Hon. Neil B. Field and Judge Edward A. Mann.

TALKING MACHINES FOR THE COUNTY SCHOOLS

Superintendent Montoya Installs First of New Machines in Las Padillas Today—Bond Issue Carries.
 County School Superintendent Atanacio Montoya today installed in Las Padillas, school district No. 6, the first of the school talking machines, recently ordered for general use in Terrahill county's district schools. The machine and a number of its special records was tried out with complete satisfaction. The records include school songs of all kinds, adapted to the various grades and including comics, classics, patriotic songs and musical exercises and the county superintendent and teachers are delighted with the first of the machines, expecting it to prove of material advantage in encouraging school music. They will be of advantage also in entertaining.
 The talking machines are to be in-
